Tasting Notes: A Tuscan Vermentino with distinct aromas of white flowers, slightly balsamic and agile drinking. In the mouth the acidity gives pleasantness and also a nice persistence. Arania is the utmost expression of the Poggio ai Laghi terroir; a monovarietal wine, direct and sincere, with a fine structure and verticality that focuses on the expressiveness of this vine in a ventilated area with temperature excursions that stimulate the development of terpenes, the substances that carry the wine's aromas.
